YOUR RIGHTS, BRIEFLY SPEAKING!

Most people who 'go on holiday,' as they say in England, the Caribbean and other places where the accent is English, are seeking someplace that offers them rest, relaxation and a refuge from the cares and worries of the work-a-day world.

The Negro traveler, to whom the Travelers Green Book has dedicated its efforts since 1936, is no exception. He too, is looking for "Vacation Without Aggravation".

Of course, this is no surprise. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the National Urban League, the Congress on Racial Equality, the Students Non-Violence Committee, the Southern Christian Leadership Association and other groups fighting for minority rights make it very clear that the Negro is only demanding what everyone else wants . . . what is guaranteed all citizens by the Constitution of the United States.

In fact, the militancy of these civil right groups exhibited in sit-ins, kneel-ins, freedom rides, other demonstration and court battles has widened the areas of public accommodations accessible to all.

Realizing that a family planning a vacation hopes for one that is free of tensions and problems, the Travelers Green Book includes the following brief summary of various state statutes on discrimination as they apply to public accommodations or recreation:

ALASKA	Law bans Jimcro in recreational facilities. Violators are subject to criminal punishment (court proceedings).
CALIFORNIA	Anti-jimcro law in recreational facilities. Violators are subject to civil suits for damages plus $250.
COLORADO	Anti-jimcro law in recreational facilities, including discriminatory advertising. Administrative enforcement machinery. Alternatively, enforcement through court proceedings (criminal punishment).
CONNECTICUT	Anti-jimcro law in recreational facilities. Violators subject to criminal punishment, forfeiture of licenses (court proceedings).
DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA	Anti-jimcro in recreational facilities. Violators subject to criminal punishment (court proceedings).
IDAHO	Anti-jimcro law in recreational facilities, including discriminatory advertising. Violators subject to civil damages, criminal punishment and injunction (court proceedings).
ILLINOIS	Anti-jimcro law in recreational facilities, including discriminatory advertising. Violators subject to civil damages, criminal punishment and injunction (court proceedings).

INDIANA	Anti-jimcro law in recreational facilities. Violators are subject to civil damages and criminal punishment (court proceedings).
IOWA	. . . Violators subject to criminal punishment (court proceedings).
KANSAS	. . . Violators subject to fines (court proceedings).
MAINE	. . . including discriminatory advertising. Violators subject to criminal punishment (court proceedings).
MASSACHUSETTS	. . . including . . . advertising. Administrative enforcement machinery. Alternatively, enforcement through court proceedings (civil damages, criminal punishment).
MICHIGAN	. . . including . . . advertising. Violators are subject to civil suits for treble damages, criminal punishment, and revocation or suspension of license (court proceedings).
MINNESOTA	. . . Violators subject to civil damages and criminal punishment . . .
MONTANA	. . . No specific sanctions.
NEBRASKA	. . . Violators subject to criminal punishment (court proceedings).
NEVADA	Law declares jimcro in recreational facilities to be against public policy. Administrative investigating machinery.
NEW HAMPSHIRE	. . . Violators subject to fines . . .
NEW JERSEY	. . . including discriminatory advertising. Administrative enforcement machinery. Alternatively, enforcement through court proceedings (civil damages, criminal punishment).
NEW MEXICO	. . . No specific sanctions.
NEW YORK	. . . including discriminatory advertising. Administrative enforcement machinery. Alternatively, enforcement through court proceedings (civil damages, criminal punishment).
OREGON
PENNSYLVANIA
NORTH DAKOTA	. . . Violators subject to criminal punishment . . .
OHIO	. . . Administrative enforcement machinery. Alternatively, enforcement through court proceedings (civil damages, criminal punishment).
RHODE ISLAND	. . . Administrative enforcement machinery.
VERMONT	. . . Violators subject to criminal punishment (court proceedings).
VIRGINIA	Prohibition of advertisements discriminating because of religion. Violators are liable to injunction suits (court proceedings).
VIRGIN ISLANDS	. . . Violators subject to civil damage (actual damages plus punitive damages up to $5000), criminal punishment and revocation or suspension of licenses (court proceedings).
WASHINGTON	. . . including discriminatory advertising. Administrative enforcement machinery. Alternatively, enforcement through court proceedings . . .
WEST VIRGINIA	No law prohibiting discrimination in recreational facilities. Human Rights Commission authorized to investigate charges of discrimination.
WISCONSIN	. . . . Violators subject to civil damages and criminal punishment. . .
WYOMING	. . . Violators subject to criminal punishment . . .

This information was condensed from "Civil Rights and Minorities" by Paul Hartman, associate director of the law department of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith. Other excellent reference material is the "Report On State Anti-Discrimination Agencies and the Laws They Administer" prepared by the Commission on Law and Social Action of the American Jewish Congress. Shad Polier is chairman of the Commission; Leo Pfeffer, director; and Joseph Robison, assistant director. Mr. Robison is author of these AJC reports.

By-the-way, if you encounter any problems in these states that have this legislation (incidentally, Massachusetts had a law banning discrimination in recreational facilities open to the general public as far back as 1865 . . . the first of its kind) you can take your complaint to:

VISA INFORMATION

Usually the traveler must have inoculation certificates for Small Pox.. Visa requirements of U. S. citizens is usually that they have a valid United States Passport and Inoculation certificates attesting to their vaccinations for Small Pox and Yellow Fever. The number of copies of the applications and photos for the applications as well as the amount of the visa fees depends on the individual countries.

GUIDE POSTS FOR A PLEASANT TRIP

By Thomasina Norford

So you're off on that "dream trip"? How can you make it really a dream trip? Or will it be a nightmare?

In travelling, like most other situations — a lot will depend on you. Knowing what to do and how to do it the easy way can mean the difference between coming home with the memories of a lifetime or saying, "Gee, I'm glad to be home".

So you have packed light and are off by car, boat, train or plane — now what?

Knowing where to stop and what is expect is provided in The Travelers Green

Book. You already know whether the place you're going to stop at, in what town, has a swimming pool or not and what other facilities are available. You have already checked on the price scale. Your reservations have been accepted and you arrive.

The first person to greet you will be the taxi driver, if you don't drive. Before you get in the taxi tell him where you are going and ask him approximately how much it will cost to get there. If the price seems exorbitant — talk to the sky cap or red cap or an official.

The next persons you meet will be the doorman and bell boy who will take your luggage into the lobby and after room assignment is made will take your luggage to the room.

Rooms vary in price. The higher up the room the more expensive, usually, and rooms "with a view" are more than inside or court rooms. Many hotels have public places such as ballrooms, rooms normally used by salesmen and party rooms. Getting on the same floor with them can be annoying. However, if you are the gregarious type — "if you can't lick 'em jine 'em."

Meals can be a joy, if you know what to order! Usually every hotel or restaurant has a house specialty. Try it. Maybe you won't like Creole Gumbo in Louisiana, but maybe you will. After all aren't you out for adventure? Then have it! If you don't like Gumbo (or any other food you've ordered) — don't blame the cook — blame only your own provincial taste and go down the street and order some ham and eggs.

So you want to "see the town"? Good! Some home work before going can be very helpful as a starter. Read some travel book, road maps and talk to some folks who have lived there. Then supplement this by a chat with some of the folks you meet in the town, such as service folk. Take a look at the picture postcards in the five and ten and take off.

If you are motoring get a road map. If you are using a sightseeing service you will know what you will see and the cost. If you are using a taxi or a private conveyance, by all means get his price and what it will cost before you engage him. It's better to hire them by the hour in most towns.

Plan your sightseeing while the townspeople are at work so as not to get involved in a traffic jam. Yes, every town has its traffic problem, or "rush hour".

So you brought the children? How nice! Well, I am sure you have prepared well for them in terms of games they can play while traveling; dressed them in comfortable clothes and told them all about the trip beforehand.

And surely you want them to have a good time, but please don't allow them to spoil other persons trips! Their "manners will be magic". Of course Papa orders all foods in the dining room. Children should come in and sit down and "act like little ladies and gentlemen" like you have trained them. This goes for public conveyances, too. And please, no running up and down the corridors and lobbies of the hotel you are in!

If you are going to visit relatives or friends in a town with the hotel as a "base of operation" call them first and find out when you will see them and for what type of activity so you will know how to dress. Then plan your other activities after that schedule is set.

So you're now ready to move to the next town or home but you must get some "gifts for the folks back home." What will it be?" Two rules are pretty simple to start with. 1. What would the recipient like? 2. What is typical of the place you've visited that fits what the person would like.

Some of the unusual things are cook books of favorite recipes of the town; charms of the most famous place or historical place; maps of the place on a hanky, scarf or towel; a travel book about the place or something that is made in the town.

Be pleasant, ask questions, don't complain (just don't go THERE again is the way to handle that!) because what you complain about will not be rectified while you are there anyway in most instances; be adventuresome; and most of all don't expect any place to be "like home". After all, that's why you took the trip in the first place, wasn't it?

TRAVELING TRUNKLINES

Have most of your travel wardrobe wash 'n' wear. A dip, splash and drip keeps your things fresh as a daisy.

Simple, basic travel togs save space. As usual, hubby won't need much . . . slacks, several jackets, etc. will keep him neat. You can give the impression of a large wardrobe with an interesting variety of accessories without excess luggage.

Pack heavier articles together at the bottom of the suitcase and the larger garments, carefully and smoothly folded, over them. Keep plastic bags that those new shirts came in for shoes. Put toiletries in leakproof containers. This will save your things from damage. By-the-way, the things you use first or most often put them on top.

Be protected. Go to the bank and get travelers' checks. These are replaceable and always negotiable.

Don't forget the weather, girls! Unless you're going au naturel, have enough 'hair aids' to keep you confident in humid or dry conditions.

DEAR READERS:

During 27 dedicated years of publishing your Travelers' GREEN BOOK we have constantly sought to improve our service to you. We want you to enjoy yourself. In fact, we are in business to help you "VACATION WITHOUT AGGRAVATION."

If you will drop us a line and tell us how you enjoyed your travel accommodations, we certainly would appreciate it. If you have any suggestions how we can be of more help, let us know . . . it will help us to maintain our high standards and keep Travelers' GREEN BOOK your favorite travel guide.

Sincerely,
Victor H. Green Co.
